

Thanksgiving cooking prep: Read the instructions first

Published November 29, 2008 (Excerpt from)

By Jackie Rooney

- The numbers are in for the Ponte Vedra Women's Golf Association's extremely successful Pink Ribbon Golf Classic. It was only the second year for the tournament that benefits breast cancer research, making the sum raised quite remarkable. On Nov. 18 at Underwood Jewelers, event Chairwoman Susie Buckey presented a check for $70,000 to Mayo Clinic Jacksonville physician Edith Perez, director of the Breast Program and Cancer Clinical Study Unit. Perez told the crowd at the event that she and her team are making strides in the fight against breast cancer. Then Underwood's announced that a Mikimoto bracelet the Ponte Vedra jewelers donated as a raffle prize generated an additional $1,300, and 10 percent of the proceeds of all Mikimoto pearls sold that evening also will be given to the cause.

Jackie Rooney is a freelance writer who lives in Ponte Vedra Beach. To contact her, please e-mail rooneybin@comcast.net. Or call 249-4947. Or fax 280-1899.